Thomas J. Jordan, President of Jordan & Jordan, appointed as Investor Representative to CTA Advisory Committee

September 29, 2005 – Thomas J. Jordan was selected as the Investor Representative for the CTA Advisory Committee. As an Advisory Committee member he will provide input on any new or modified product, fee, contract, or pilot program. Advisory committee members have the right to attend meetings of the operating committee and to receive information disseminated to the operating committee.

The formation of Advisory Committees is required by the “Governance Amendment” of Regulation NMS. The composition of the committee includes representatives from the following categories: (1) a retail broker-dealer; (2) an institutional broker-dealer; (3) an ATS; (4) a data vendor; and (5) an investor.

Regarding his appointment, Tom Jordan expressed his commitment to representing the investor perspective on the CTA Advisory Committee stating, “As an investor and a professional in the securities industry, I am well aware of the need for accessible market data to maintain efficient markets. I look forward to providing informed input both to the Advisory Committee and Plan Participants. “

Tom Jordan is Founder, President and Chief Executive Officer of Jordan & Jordan, which provides Management Consulting, Project Management, Market Data Management, Search and Software Development for the Securities and Banking Industry. He keeps abreast of market data issues in his role as the Co-Founder and Advisory Committee Chair of the Financial Information Forum, a consortium of brokers, vendors, service bureaus and exchanges whom address issues regarding the effect of structural and technological changes on securities processing and the collection and distribution of market data.
